

Statement by the Directors of AF Global Capital Ltd.

Given the nature of our business as an underwriting member of Lloyd's, our board consider that there is minimal risk that, either within the member or the very limited supply chains which support our business activities to be involved in, supportive of, or complicit in slavery and human trafficking. The member does not employ any staff and to the extent that the member operates as a purchaser of goods or services, these are solely within the context of our business as an underwriting member of Lloyd's; we expect a high level of ethical conduct from our suppliers with which we do business within our very limited and business specific supply chains.

Our supply chains

AF Global Capital underwrites insurance and reinsurance products which are a type of financial services product and so we consider the risk of modern slavery or human trafficking existing within our business or our supply chains to be low. We have a limited supply chain, predominantly comprised of the Lloyd's members' agent that advises us on our underwriting at Lloyd's, companies within its group that may provide tax and company secretarial support and external professional services companies that we may retain to provide additional financial, legal and other advice. We do not act as a producer, manufacturer or retailer of physical goods and have no supply chain in relation to such activities.
